

Being prompted to insert Microsoft Office CD

If a Windows 2000 or XP machine is running both Microsoft Office 2000 and Maplewood, you may encounter a message asking that the Microsoft Office 2000 CD be installed. If you encounter this message, install the CD or point the installer to a shared installation location for Microsoft office on the network (you may require administrative rights). This is the only way to remove this message permanently. The issue is likely caused by a shared Microsoft control being overwritten and needing to be reinstalled.
